

Outcome 5: Young people consider risk, make reasoned decisions and take control

Indicator 7: Young people critically assess information

How can I measure this indicator?

You can use the table below to measure young peoples ability to critically assess information. Here are a few examples of statements but you can add your own.

	I really agree	I agree	I disagree	I really disagree	I don't know
I can tell the difference between real and fake news
It important to know who wrote or published the information I use
Where information comes from is as important as what it says
I use social media to find out information
