Getting to know your emotional homunculus

Getting to know your emotional homunculus

The screenshot shows a web browser window with the URL scottishconflictresolution.org.uk. The page header includes the SCCR logo and navigation links for 'Mediation services', 'Blog', and 'Community discussion'. A secondary navigation bar lists categories: 'Young People', 'Parents & Carers', 'Professionals & Practitioners', 'Events', 'Conferences', 'About', 'Brainy Stuff', and 'Resource Hub'. The main content area features a colorful illustration of four homunculi (small human figures) around a large cocktail shaker. One homunculus is holding a brick, another is holding a shoe, and a third is holding a soccer ball. The text '#CranialCocktail' is overlaid on the illustration. Below the illustration is a dark grey bar with the text 'What type of brain are you? #MonkeyvsLizard'. At the bottom of the page is a white bar with the text 'Scottish Centre for Conflict Resolution'.

What would your emotional homunculus look like today?

This is mine this morning, my emotional homunculus is feeling pretty good today.
