

About the Raleigh International Year of Service Internship

As you know in 2021, we piloted Re:Green – a programme designed to increase the skills, knowledge and capacity of young people directly address the climate emergency and to mobilise their generation, influence decision-makers and change behaviours which support a greener, fairer and more inclusive society.

With the help of 15 interns, in 2022, we aim to grow the programme and ensure that there are no barriers for any young person that would like to participate regardless of background or location within the UK.

UK YoS Interns will support and extend the reach of Raleigh International's Action Not Excuses climate change campaign and Re:Green programme, which aim to build a movement of young leaders taking urgent action now to address the climate and biodiversity emergencies across the UK and around the world.

Why intern with Raleigh International

1. Boost your CV with meaningful, paid employment

UK Year of Service Interns will work in teams to undertake a range of focussed activities in market research, recruitment, volunteer support, campaign support, training delivery and mentoring other young people.

2. Feel supported in learning new skills

All activities will have clear work-plans, training and support provided by Raleigh International staff.

The UK Year of Service network will also support you every step of the way and beyond. "I did my UK Year of Service" says to future employers that you've shown resilience and commitment to serve yourself by serving others, highlighting your skills and values.

3. Be part of the Raleigh International family!

Not only is Raleigh International a respected and well-known organisation but it is also a friendly, positive and collaborative place to work.

Alice, Communications Officer at Raleigh International said: "The skills and experience that I acquired as an intern with Raleigh International have changed my life and charted me on my dream career that I didn't know before."

Our people are at the heart of the organisation. Connecting and sharing with each other and having fun together are as important as the work we do.
